cook's distance vs observation number